.LOCKER is a generic top-level domain (gTLD) designed for applications and services that focus on data security and confidentiality. It offers users a secure way to store and share sensitive information in a digital environment.

▪ Web 3.0 integration

.LOCKER is fully in line with the vision of Web 3.0, which emphasizes decentralization, security and privacy. Users of the .LOCKER extension benefit from decentralized access to their data, giving them total control over it, far removed from traditional centralized infrastructures.

▪ Data security

The .LOCKER extension is particularly well suited to secure file storage and sharing services.

▪ Blockchain technology

Use of the .LOCKER extension can also be combined with blockchain technologies, offering data traceability and immutability. This strengthens user confidence by guaranteeing that information exchanged or stored is secure and verifiable.

Section .LOCKER. 4. "Trademark Claim Notice" period

In accordance with ICANN rules, a "Trademark Claim Notice" period will be in effect for at least 90 days after the general opening.

During this period, if the domain name You are requesting to register corresponds identically to a trademark registered and validated with TMCH (according to the labels generated), You will receive an alert ("Trademark Claim Notice") in real time on Our interface informing You that a third party has rights over the term You are requesting.

You must then, with full knowledge of the facts, confirm or cancel Your registration request. In the absence of confirmation, Your request will not be sent to the Registry.

If You confirm Your application, third-party owners of an identical trademark will be notified of Your registration.

For pre-registration requests, Gandi will notify You of the "Trademark Claim Notice" by e-mail the day before the opening of the period concerned, and Your registration request will be placed in "error" status until You confirm or cancel Your request via Our interface. It being specified that, in application of ICANN rules, in the absence of confirmation of the alert by You, Gandi will not send Your registration request to the Registry at the opening of the concerned period, and may in no way be held responsible for the non-registration of Your domain name, in particular if the domain name is registered by a third party who would have validated the "Trademark Claim Notice" at the time of the opening of the concerned period.

It is Your sole and entire responsibility to confirm, if You wish, all alerts received before the opening of the period concerned and the sending of Your request to the Register.
